Kerakoll UK's training campus offers in-depth tiling courses

Kerakoll opened its impressive 2,500 sq. ft training centre in Bromsgrove, Worcestershire, in late 2016. This is where the company now offers training in products and systems to its customers.

The campus is divided into two areas: the first is a practical area with training bays where tilers can try out Kerakoll products for themselves in conditions which mimic those that they will encounter on site. Alongside this is a classroom for theoretical training on Kerakoll products and systems.

The company prides itself on providing a full programme of training on the tiling systems offered by Kerakoll. Training on surface preparation covers screeds, primers, levelling compounds and tanking and that on tile laying covers adhesives, grouts and silicones. Kerakoll holds 10 system training days per year where all of these aspects are included.

The company also offers more in depth training on individual products and specific systems such as pool tanking or wet rooms, the dates of which are arranged throughout the year, and can arrange bespoke sessions for clients.

Contact your local Kerakoll representative or Kerakoll UK to enquire about the next training course or specific training needs.
